

Acupuncture

The goal of acupuncture is to use small fine needles to stimulate the body's internal anti-inflammatory cascade and increase circulation. Acupuncture can help the body heal itself, and reduce the amount of drugs needed, thus reducing the unwanted side effects and pharmaceutical costs. For maximum health and benefits, integrate acupuncture into an animal's regular healthcare plan.

- Reduce Injuries and Inflammation

- Alleviates tight, sore muscles and repairs strained tendons, ligaments and joints

- Increase Circulation

- Stimulates the release of anti-inflammatory mechanisms and increases flow in blood lymphatic vessels to speed healing

- Improve Overall Health

- Boosts the immune system, enhances organ function

Click on Amazing Acupuncture cases and Acupuncture to read PDF-articles about Dr. Woodford in Apples 'n Oats Magazine.

Additional acupuncture related information can be found in the article Chinese Herbal Medications